Letter no 3333 dated 17th instant from the Supdg Engineer, Western Circle to the Chief Engineer of Mysore

When inspecting the Mysore Engineering School and examining pupils, it occurred to me that very valuable instruction might be given to the School by a set of lectures delivered by our Bod Engineers. Lectures by Engineers in actual practice are accepted at Home and in America as one of the best forms of instruction so I am not proposing anything novel.

I have not asked any of our men if they would lecture, but I think some at any rate would be quite willing. Officers might be asked to select their own subjects. For Officers not in Mysore District, Government might allow the journey to and from Mysore "on duty".

No one knows better than Executive officers where subordinates fail and what it is really important for them to know and if lectures kept the object of their lecture that is the training of subordinates well before them, I believe good results would follow.

I submit this idea for what it is worth if you approve and Government accept the idea, I for one will gladly help to carry it out
